ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY BALL.

The descendants of St. Antrew among whom are numbered many of the leading chosens of Prime Albert, are not one whit behind their Phrither Scotts it of ther parts of the world, in any of the functions which go to make up either the business or social life of their adopted town and country. Here as everywhere the representatives of the heather and haggis are as active and enterprising and perhaps just as "canny" where. And while they are truly loyal to the land of their adoption, rare indeed is it to find a native of South who forgets the country of his birth or who does not feel like echerating, in some appropriate manner the days that remind him more for like echerating, in some appropriate sea, and of the events in its history which sea, and of the events in its history which eath for his remembrance. Thursday evening, the St. Astrew's Society of Prime Albert held a grant ball in the new Youn Hall binding, for the purpose of doing honer to the pattern saint of the land of caker, and a happy company it was which gathered within the enventum it as and hall was prettly decorated with bushing, etc., and such approp softors as "Caed mille faithe," "Was Jose Tampson's bairns," and savolters of a like nature found complet paces in different parts of the ball, caure arrangements for the convenional resource of the Suchstanders.
